

HAWTHORNE COMMUNITY CENTER RACE TO THE FINISH

INDIANAPOLIS, APRIL 30, 2015 -- Hawthorne Community Center is having a "Race to the Finish" event at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Tuesday, May 12.

Tickets are $50 each and include a buffet lunch in the Panasonic Pagoda, entrance to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on a practice day, and the opportunity to tour garages and the pit area. There will also be a silent auction.

All proceeds will benefit Hawthorne Community Center's Capital Campaign.

"After two years of hard work, Hawthorne Community Center is very close to meeting its $3.5 million capital campaign goal to renovate its existing building," said Diane Arnold, executive director. "This event could put us over the top! We are grateful to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway for making this event possible for us."

Hawthorne Community Center serves people throughout Indianapolis' westside from Raceway Road to White River Parkway and from 38th Street south to Thompson Road with licensed early childcare, programs for school-age children, youth basketball and dance programs, leadership development for teenagers and senior citizen meals and activities. The Center for Working Families at Hawthorne Community Center is a national model for helping financially fragile individuals find better jobs and become economically self sufficient.
